

Code of Conduct

Many OLLI activities provide forums for lively and even passionate exchange of views. This is good as long as we follow principles of common courtesy.

Opposing viewpoints should be respected and the dignity of others maintained at all times and in all locations. This includes religious, political, ethical, and social beliefs.

Personal attacks are unacceptable.

OLLI members, instructors, staff, or guests who do not adhere to these principles will be asked to leave the premises.

Updated: 10/17/22

Approved: 03/08/23